Wheat Yield For County Makes Better Average Than Estimated

Figures Are Compiled on Wheat Yield As Compared With Yield For 1944

The 1945 wheat crop in Randall county turned out better than was expected. Preliminary figures compiled from the first 340 farm reports turned in to the county agent's office indicate a little better than average total production for the county.

These reports indicate that 91% of the acreage seeded was harvested and that an average yield of 10.6 bushels per acre was produced from the acreage harvested or an average yield of 9.6 bushels from all the seeded acreage.

The seeded acreage for the 1945 crop was a little over 200,000 acres. If the production figures for farms not yet reported are similar to the 340 already tabulated a total yield of 1,900,000 bushels is indicated for the county. This compares with 3,500,000 last year from a smaller acreage seeded.

Hail damage occurred this year on more acreage than for many years. In fact the loss from hail this year is thought to be a long time record.

Hail was reported on 95 farms out of the first 340 reporting. The damage from hail varied all the way from very slight to as much as 100% in a few fields.

Yields on individual farms varied from nothing to 30 bushels per acre. Wheat on summer fallowed land was generally 25% to 50% better than wheat on fields following wheat the year before.

Wheat yields were better on summer fallowed land where the fallowing started in the fall as compared to summer fallowing started in the spring. There is also an indication that furrowing or chiseling as a part of the summer fallowing produced higher yields than where the summer fallowing was done with a one way plow only.

Chapel Fund Is Increasing

Three checks in one mail last Wednesday boosted the College Chapel Fund $1025.

One of these checks will provide a beautiful window; it is to honor Mrs. J. W. Allen, mother of four ex-students of W. T., and a pioneer citizen of Petersburg, Texas. It came from attorney Ira Allen of Houston.

Another of the checks came from W. G. Gatewood, owner and manager of an Austin, Texas bookstore. Mr. Gatewood was a student at W. T. in its early years, and has never lost interest in the development of his college.

The third check came from Capt. and Mrs. Olin Hinkle. Capt. Hinkle is a member of the faculty who is on leave for military service. In his letter to President J. A. Hill, he wrote, "Aside from symbolic and practical values, the chapel will be a most welcome change in our architectural pattern. And its meaning will grow richer with each passing month. Its activity program should include many hours devoted to organ music. . . ."

Congressman Worley Writes of the Effect Roosevelt's Death on Europe

The death of the late President Roosevelt occasioned genuine and almost universal sorrow. Our country was four days out on the Atlantic when the news of the President's death was picked up by short wave radio. Immediately a deep gloom pervaded the entire ship, from the highest ranking officer aboard to the lowest. One soldier was heard to remark, "Roosevelt dies but fellows like Hitler live." This, of course, was before the Battle of Berlin, where Hitler was supposed to have perished leading his men in defense of the German capital.

Memorial services for FDR were held aboard ship during some of the roughest weather old timers said they had ever seen. Every ship in the convoy was rolling and pitching with many decks washed by high smashing waves. Such weather reminded us of the grim realities and extreme urgency of the economic and political waves through which the American ship of state is passing and must pass.

All flags of the Allied nations were at half mast in London. From taxi driver to the Prime Minister ample evidence of sorrow and concern was written on all faces. The French people reflected the same sense of personal loss and the same was true of most of the Italians. And in Greece and Palestine, Roosevelt's death was mourned. But I saw no trace of concern, one way or the other, in German.

On everyone's lips was the query "Who is this fellow Truman?" "What is his background?" "Will he see the world problems as Roosevelt did and will he follow the same policies?"

Needless to say, there was deep concern for several weeks after Truman assumed the killing duties of the highest office in the United States—and even the world, for that matter. However, after Truman's first address to Congress this feeling of uncertainty and anxiety began to diminish. His subsequent quick

POLITICS IN 1946

Who said politics would be a tame affair in Texas in 1946!

Look who's here, and why! It is none other than Jimmie Allred, former Attorney General of Texas; former Governor of Texas; former Federal Judge; former candidate for United States Senator from Texas.

Jimmie is out to hold high the New Deal banner in Texas. He feels that someone should make the personal sacrifice and swing onto the coattail of the fallen Chief, who did so much for and to Jimmie. Jimmie says that he will run for Governor in 1946 unless Congressman Lyndon Johnson decides to be the sacrifice for the noble cause which has lost its leader. Since Lyndon has a secure job, and would face the uncertainty of the Texas voters, we are rather inclined to think that he will not be a candidate for Governor.

Back to Jimmie. You will recall that he had a soft job for life as federal judge until the New Dealers decided to oust Pappy O'Daniel as Senator. That was not so easy. The White House told Jimmie to resign and tackle the flour salesman. Texas voters thought differently. Pappy won, hands down. Roosevelt lived up to his promise and appointed Jimmie to another federal judgeship. But the sailing was not clear. The Senate refused to confirm him. Jimmie was left without a job, a sadder and a wiser man—maybe. Eating must be running rather low in the House of Allred, for here comes Jimmie again willing to sacrifice his talents in the Governorship—at $12,000 per year.

But sailing again may not be so easy. Here comes Lieutenant Governor John Lee Smith and Railroad Commissioner Beauford Jester, both potential candidates for Governor. Both smiled when shown the statement from Allred; both declined comment. In other words, so far as these would-be candidates are concerned, they show no fear of a come back from Jimmie.

In the meanwhile, Cool Calculating Coke still has the politicians worried. If the Governor decides to run for another term, there will be a lot of political apples up-est.

On with the battle. There will be a big time in Texas next year.

Senator Tom Connally is in the eye of America. He successfully guided the San Francisco Charter through the tough Senate Foreign Affairs Committee. The Charter will be before the Senate next week. According to all polls taken of the Senate, the Charter will be adopted without much trouble. America does not know whether the Charter will prohibit another war, but every sane American knows that the lack of unity among the nations, who are opposed to the Axis movement, will certainly lead to another war. It is just as well that we remember our position in 1918-19. We withdrew from international affairs, and were hit by the bloodiest and most costly war the world has ever experienced. We do not want to see the same thing happen again. Most of the rank isolationists in the Senate are now convinced that America must take its place at the peace table, or the next generation will suffer another war.

American women agreed with the army that American soldiers should not fraternize with the girls of Germany. The Gallup Poll shows that the women are almost solidly in favor of the edict which put a ban in G. I. Joe dating the girls in Germany. As a rule American men disapprove of the edict. It is reported that the soldiers were not paying too much attention to the orders, when there was a way to evade the officers. Soldiers usually find a way to make dates when they feel lonely. The army relaxed the previous firm decree to some extent. The army wants the Germans to know that they are whipped, but being a policeman among people with whom he cannot have social relations is a pretty tiresome job for an energetic American boy who wants something more to do than walk the beat.

Personally we are mighty glad that President Truman refused to meet Churchill before the Big Three got together. Churchill has always disliked and distrusted Stalin. Stalin knows exactly how Churchill feels, and has a personal contempt for the pudgy Englishman. Our government has not improved its position with the Russians by the long delay in recognizing Stalin's rule. The success or failure of the meeting will likely depend upon Truman. He has not tied his hands before entering the conference. While it is true that Russia is not at war with Japan and technically this problem is one for Great Britain and the United States to work out, everyone has a feeling that it will not be long before Stalin will turn the Reds loose and will be in on the kill.

We are now hearing a lot of criticism about "Unconditional Surrender" as applied to Japan. The same criticism was directed against "unconditional surrender" before the Germans were whipped. It is doubtful if this demand prolonged the war for a single day. There are no grounds upon which to believe that it will prolong the war with Japan. It is well agreed that the war lords of both Germany and Japan must be crushed and these nations supervised for many years before the world will again be secure and safe from the threat of a third world war. So what is the use of softening the peace terms, which everyone agrees must be carried out? We have great faith in our military leaders.

Congress finally gave the Fair Employment Practice Committee $250,000 on which to operate during the coming year. Opponents to the dictatorial policies of this misnamed bureau almost succeeded in killing the appropriation. If this appropriation had not been tied in with 14 other war agencies, the bureau would probably have suffered decapitation. The more we read of the tyrannical rule of the FEPC practices, the more we wonder at the queer squirk of the mind which invented the whole system and unloaded it upon the unsuspecting public. There will certainly be a radical house cleaning in Washington one of these days when the people become fed up on these woolly haired social reformers.

We see that Europe expects us to feed it during the coming winter. Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson says that this will be impossible, in spite of the glib statements made by Marvin Jones that there was plenty of food. 350 carloads of potatoes were allowed to spoil on the east coast while the English and American ship owners fussed about hauling them to Belgium to replace the ones loaned to American troops. We laugh off such inexcusable waste as just a part of the wholesale destruction of war. Incidentally, we presume that we are going to continue feeding the thousands of British troops who are in Greece seeing to it that Churchill's policy is maintained.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

SEASONED TIMBER

WHILE CLEARING HIS LAND, THE COLONIAL SETTLER SET ASIDE SOME FINE OAK LOGS TO SEASON, AGAINST THE TIME WHEN HE WOULD BE READY TO HEW THEM INTO BEAMS FOR HIS PERMANENT HOME—A HOME THAT WAS TO SHELTER THE FAMILY FOR MANY GENERATIONS, ITS TIMBERS AS STRAIGHT AND STRONG AS THE DAY THEY WERE SET.

FOLLOWING OUR TRADITIONAL RELIANCE ON "SEASONED TIMBER" WE LOOK FOR SECURITY TODAY TO LIFE INSURANCE—SEASONED BY MORE THAN 100 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE... AND TO WAR BONDS, BEHIND WHICH ARE ALL THE ASSETS OF THE NATION.

WE STILL PUT OUR TRUST IN SEASONED TIMBER.

The gamblers took another swat on the chin. Race horses cannot be moved from one race meet to another meet by train or commercial trucks. That will sure be hard on those who follow the races, living off the crop of suckers. America has reached the point when it is more necessary to give our returning soldiers some decent modes of transportation in preference to hauling race horses. Of course the government profits on public gambling since a big per cent of the take goes to taxes; and the winners pay a considerable portion in income taxes. Even that does not justify continuation of public gambling.

The unusual still happens. President Truman gave orders to heads of bureaus before he left for Europe to watch expenses. He knows how hard it is to make money, and therefore does not wish to see government agencies wasting the people's money. Agencies in the past have been begging Congress for more money, and then spending all of their appropriations, regardless of needs. It is a very hopeful sign.

when the head of the most powerful nation of the world warns against wasting public money.

Are you a sucker? The smart boys are out after the easy money which is burning the pockets of Americans. All kinds of rackets are being uncovered. You will be offered all kinds of opportunities to make more easy money with the money which you now want to spend, but cannot invest in wise household or business necessities. Better be leery of strangers who approach you with sure fire investments.

We read that Truman's old friends have moved in and started practices which he condemned while a Senator. It was ever thus. A President is made by the friends he keeps. Truman has made a wonderful record. It would be a shame if his over enthusiastic friends should cause the people to lose confidence in his administration.

Big news! Italy has declared war on Japan. Naturally the Japs are not going to get much excited about this decision. Since the Sawdust Caesar was hanged by his heels, after exploiting the nation of its resources, the Wops are glad to join the winning side. They are looking for lend-lease goods to continue their lives. Wonder how the thousands of fat and saucy Wops in the prison camps of America think about the new move?

New Yorkers are still without delivery of their newspapers. The War Labor Board has issued decrees, which are ignored. The Smith-Connally law is helpless in the face of stubborn resistance. Hard headed labor leaders can do as they please in America, and they know it. When will Congress wake up to the gravity of the labor situation, and free labor and the public of unscrupulous labor racketeers?

It seems that Franco and his Nazi sympathizers are eating the sugar which you should be enjoying. Through some queer quirk, our State Department has been upholding Franco and feeding his Nazi band of thugs at the expense of the American people. Again we are following Churchill. Some of these days America will adopt a foreign policy of its own and not copy-cat Churchill.

They are feeding us so little in restaurants nowadays that when they invite us to come again we feel like accepting the invitation immediately.

Canadian Meat Situation Made Clear by Dept.

In response to numerous inquiries recently as to why meat cannot be imported into the United States from Canada the U. S. Department of Agriculture today issued the following statement:

"Canada has made commitments to ship its exportable surplus of meat to the United Kingdom and to liberated areas. Most of the meat shipped to the United Kingdom is supplied under the Mutual Aid (free contribution) program and most of that shipped to liberated areas is a part of Canada's contribution to UNRRA.

"The Canadian export commitment to the United Kingdom is a minimum of 500,000,000 pounds annually (about 20 per cent of Canada's total estimated production in 1945). However, efforts are being made, as in 1944, to exceed this figure substantially, although hog production is down about 35 per cent from last year. The Canadians have already this year shipped to the United Kingdom slightly more meat than the United States. This availability to the United Kingdom from Canada entered into the decision to allocate no United States meat to the United Kingdom for the July-September quarter of 1945.

"It is estimated that in addition to the foregoing the shipments by Canada to liberated areas in 1945 may reach about 110,000,000 pounds as canned meat. Canada also is continuing to assume the responsibility of providing meat for certain areas, such as Newfoundland and British West Indies. Altogether, exports may be 30 to 35 per cent of this year's total meat production in Canada.

"To obtain meat for export and to restrict domestic consumption, Canada utilizes a system of Government requisitioning at inspected packing plants. This is similar to the set-aside system employed in the United States to procure supplies for lend-lease and the military services. Slaughter plants in Canada are required to reserve for overseas delivery all Grade A hogs everywhere, all Grade B hogs in western Canada and 65 per cent of Grade B hogs in Ontario and other eastern provinces. These two grades comprise the bulk of the hog marketing.

"Canadian consumption of meat is at a lower per capita rate than last year and canned meat has been withdrawn from civilian consumption except for certain priority users. Per capita consumption of meat in Canada this year is expected to be about 10 pounds higher than in the United States.

"To import meat into the United States an export license must be obtained from the Canadian Government and no permits for export to the United States are being issued at the present time. Some meat from Canada, however, is being furnished to the U. S. military forces.

"In addition to its contribution of meat, Canada has made available to the United Kingdom and the British armed forces substantial amounts of dairy products. Almost 75 per cent of all the cheese produced in Canada is now being sent to the British, also under Mutual Aid. Civilian consumption of butter in Canada is considerably higher than in the United States but butter has always made up a considerably larger proportion of Canadian fats and oils supplies than is true in the United States, and consumption of other fats and oils is lower in Canada than here.

"Canada now rations butter, sugar, canned fruits, preserves and evaporated milk. While consumption of some foods such as meats is a little higher in Canada than in the United States, consumption of other foods, particularly sugar and canned fruits is lower.

"From 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 pounds of poultry are being furnished this year to the war services of the United States by Canada. Poultry may be imported from Canada by private importers in the United States by obtaining an export license from Canada and an import license from the United States."

British Fleet in Pacific Attacks

ADMIRAL CHESTER W. NIMITZ, over-all Pacific Commander under whom the British Pacific Fleet operates, the other day told the British sailors that they had performed a valuable service guarding the left flank of the American Okinawa campaign. "You kept the Japs off our necks," said the American Admiral. This is one of the first pictures showing this powerful British fleet in action. The flagship—the modern battleship "King George V"—is in the foreground, supported by other units, as planes from the British carriers set out to attack the Jap bases.

Veteran's Center Is On Campus

The arrow points to the building which was formerly the home of the college president, and the sign says "Veterans Administration Guidance Center." Many young men will get their first impressions of West Texas State College during a day which they spend at the Center. Many who come to the Center may become students of W. T.

The Guidance Center on this campus is similar to many others throughout the United States. They have been established to help discharged soldiers to get into civilian life in the places where they want to do. The local Center is in the Muskogee Region of the Veterans' Administration of which Mr. C. B. Sherry is Chief of the Vocational and Educational Division. It was Mr. Sherry who came to Canyon several months ago and investigated the possibilities of having a Center here.

W. R. Golins, who is becoming a familiar figure on the campus, is Assistant Vocational Rehabilitation Officer in charge here. Mr. J. O. Stinnett is Training Officer and Mrs. Willa D. Ganchner is clerk and stenographer.

Dean R. P. Jarrett and Dr. T. M. Moore of the College faculty are spending many hours each week at the Center this summer, assisting with the work there.

The Guidance Center is established primarily to help all veterans who have a disability which was incurred in service or aggravated by service, for which a pension has been granted by the Veterans' Administration, and which disability constitutes a vocational handicap.

Such veterans are eligible for training under Public Law 16; however they are also eligible for the benefits of Public Law 346, commonly known as the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Veterans who have served 90 days or more since September 16, 1940 and have received a discharge other than dishonorable, but who do not have a vocational handicap, may also secure the vocational advice services which are rendered at the Center.

Veterans who have been given a disability rating and who have vocational handicaps will have their travel expenses, and meals and lodging paid for by the government in connection with the advisory service.

Veterans who are eligible for training under Public Law 346 only must pay their own expenses when reporting to the Center for advice.

There are dozens, if not hundreds, of young men in this area of Texas who have already been discharged from the Armed Services, but who do not understand that the Guidance Center has been established to help them help themselves. Ex-soldiers who have visited the Center know that each case is considered by itself, that every interview is confidential, and that no man is told what he must do or where he must go to it. He is given information so that he can do what he wants to, where he wants to, and have financial aid to make his efforts more likely to be successful.

Another way to define the Guidance Center is that it is a place where Ex-Servicemen can learn how to get back into the civilian jobs they want and can do best.

"I have an awful time catching people's names when I'm introduced," said one. "So do I," said the other, "but I found a clever way to get around the awkwardness of asking to have the name repeated. I just ask 'Do you spell your name with an 'e' or an 'i'?' It usually works splendidly."

"I know, I heard about that before. I worked with me, too, until once I met a girl I wanted to know better. Now she won't even look at me."

"How is that?" "Well, when I was introduced to her, I didn't catch her name, so I asked whether she spelled it with an 'e' or an 'i'."

"What was her name?" "Hill!"

Navy Bill had broken with his girl friend, Milly. After ignoring several letters requesting the return of her photograph, one came threatening to complain to the captain. Deciding to squelch her for all time, he borrowed all the pictures of girls available on the ship, sending them to her in a large bundle with the following note: "Pick yours out, I've forgotten what you look like."

Triumphantly the new bride placed the dessert on the table. It was an oval shaped piece of covered pastry, about 18 inches long and 6 inches wide.

"What is it?" her husband inquired. "Why darling, can't you see?—it's a pie?" "Rather long for a pie, isn't it?" "Of course not, silly. It's rhubarb."

A visitor had taken a room at the hotel. As he was signing the visitors' book, an insect hopped on to the page. He put down his pen and told the clerk that he could not stay there. Asked the reason, he answered pointing to the intruder. "Well, it's bad enough when those little beggars attack you at night, but when they come to see the number of your room it's a bit too much."

Housewife: "I wonder if you would be so kind as to weigh this package for me?" Butcher: "Why certainly. It weighs exactly three and a quarter pounds."

Housewife: "Thank you. It contains the bones you sent me in that four pound roast yesterday."

"We ask a simple question. And truth is all we wish: Are fishermen all liars, Or do only liars fish?"

Through carelessness, the word "Thursday" was used instead of "Tuesday" and so Austin has wished off on the people a special election just to pass upon one amendment—an indefensible waste of over $200,000 of the taxpayers' money for an unnecessary election. Texas needs leadership!

"A Vacationist's Lament from Lewisville Enterprise: Had my old car overhauled, Put the wheels in line, Stopped the radiator leaks, Got her running fine, Fixed the horn so it would blow, The windshield wiper wipes, Took the darned old gas tank off And cleaned out all the pipes. Had the carburetor checked, Ignition pretty good; Had the broken fenders fixed, And straightened out the hood. Got the windows where they'll roll, Put the doors in shape, Bought myself a new floor mat, And wrapped the wires with tape. Had to buy seat covers too, To get it looking right, Had the left hand bumper fixed And bought a new tail light. The steering wheel was awful loose, I had to have it bushed, And since the battery was charged, I never have to push. I've also got a good, new pump And a brand new pair of pliers, And now I'd go to see my folks But, pshaw, I've got no tires!

EDGETOWN H. D. CLUB HAS STUDY ON COORDINATION

"It has been said that a housekeeper can save an hour a day and a mile a day by carefully planning her work. Some time for rest should be planned each day for relaxation," said Miss Lou Ella Patterson in her interesting and instructive demonstration on "Coordinating Our Efforts" to the Edgetown Home Demonstration Club which met with Mrs. W. T. Davis, July 13.

The roll call was answered with "What I have to do with my day and what I would like to do with it." During the regular routine of business, Mrs. Frank R. Phillips gave a very interesting report from the July council meeting.

At the close of the meeting, the hostess led the group into her beautiful back yard, where ice cream and cakes were served to visitors: Mrs. Roy L. Johnson, Miss Patterson, Miss Mildred Solomon and Mrs. Wm. James, mother of Mrs. J. R. Sharp, and members, Mrs. Pennie Cox, Mrs. J. C. Dowd, Mrs. C. M. DeGraffenried, Mrs. T. T. Pain, Mrs. R. E. Iced punch and cake was enjoyed by the following guests and members: Mrs. J. H. Barrett, Mrs. Earl Burtz, Mrs. Joe Currie and Norma Jo, Mrs. Carl Heizer, Mrs. A. B. Years of Toil Facing Germans

Work of Rebuilding Europe Which They Ravaged Is Gigantic Task.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS AEF.—Less than one-fourth of the 2,250,000 German prisoners taken on the western front have been put to work, but the Allies are considering a plan to make them work and keep them working, for years perhaps, in rebuilding the Europe which they ravaged.

It may be that this plan of enforced labor as Germany's major reparation will not be dissimilar to the already announced plan by the Russians to make the Germans restore all they have destroyed however long it may take, according to the Associated Press.

Already from the liberated lands of western Europe, France foremost among them, have come requests for prisoner labor to till fields, rebuild roads and mine coal—labor by the tens of thousands.

These are the essentials now, but the rebuilding of towns and all the rest of the gargantuan task will come next and probably soon.

The plan has been criticized as slave labor, but here where there is so much to do and so few men and little mechanical means with which to do it, it is vital labor. It is widely regarded here that only by sweat can Germany repay and restore. For it is doubtful that she can be allowed to rehabilitate her economic structure and still be throttled in her power to prepare for or wage another war.

Prisoners probably at this moment present the Allies with their most troublesome over supply.

Flood of Prisoners.

In round numbers there are now something like 2,250,000 of them—and of that number over 1,000,000 have been scooped up this month alone, faster than they could be put to work and almost faster than they can be processed into huge camps.

Long ago the Allies adopted the policy of simply kicking out the volkssturm prisoners. They were simply disarmed, told what was what and sent back home. It would have been folly even to feed them, what with Europe's present food needs, much less paying them the doughboy rate—$60 or so a month while they were being held—better money than they probably earned before their short-lived venture as civilian soldiers.

Prisoners have come in so fast it is difficult to account for where they all are—but a great majority of them are simply sitting it out in prison camps over here.

Some 150,000 to 200,000 have been sent to the United States. Most of the rest would like to join them. Even the doughboys have scratched their heads a bit over published accounts of the new hard boiled policy of feeding prisoners in America which still provides menus with oranges and salad and dressing. Doughboys eating food concentrate out of cardboard cartons would like some of that, too.

Millions Won't Go Home.
What the German prisoners are eating over in these lands of hungry people is nothing that would cause the average doughboy any envy.

Several hundred thousand prisoners, mostly those taken by the 21st army group but including 100,000 turned over by the Americans, are in England and Canada. Five thousand have been turned over to the French. The rest are either in hospitals, in transit or just waiting. A small minority are working in hospitals and in the camps.

But this situation is not going to last long. The French have asked for tens of thousands to clear mine fields that still are a terrific hazard throughout France and rebuild roads that are one bottleneck in France's serious transport problem. But mostly they are needed to help on the farms for the vast job of feeding the nation.

Belgium's needs are the same. Holland, the worst victim of the war on the whole western front, has a need that cannot yet be estimated. The Allies have not yet announced what their final decision will be, but there are going to be a few million Germans who will not go back home on the day the war ends—not a year later, nor probably long after that.

Major in Yank Army Gets $12,020 Back Pay

FRAMINGHAM, MASS. — A Worcester army major who went to the Philippines as an instructor to the Filipino army and remained to fight with a guerrilla band has received $12,020.49 in back pay. The pay was due Maj. Lester J. Chase and it was the largest pay voucher issued here. Major Chase announced "it's all going into war bonds."

Nazi Salute Ordered Out for Captives Here

WASHINGTON. — The war department said orders had gone out forbidding prisoners of war in this country to use the "straight arm" Nazi salute.

The order also called for confiscation of all Nazi flags, pictures and emblems of all kinds except uniform insignia to which the prisoners are entitled.

Fishermen Thrive As Prices Advance

Shortage of Meat Nets Big Profits for Fleets.

CHICAGO. — Despite wartime shortages of crews and equipment, the men who go down to the sea in ships are netting the greatest profits of their careers these days as a meat-starved public becomes acquainted with codfish, yellowtail, sole, halibut, shrimp, crabs, oysters and a dozen other products of the deep.

Even eels are being consumed by citizens unable to get steaks, chops, and roasts. And shark meat is a steady seller on the Chicago market. 4,945 pounds of shark filets being among the 8,774,000 pounds of fish on last month's Chicago dinner tables. Last year's fish consumption in Chicago was 66,660,468 pounds, or nearly 20 pounds per inhabitant.

Fishermen's crews have been depleted by the demands of the merchant fleet and by the lure of high wages in war industries, and the fishing fleets have lost trawlers and druggers to the navy, says the Chicago Tribune.

Despite these handicaps the remaining fishermen managed to boost the national production total from 4 billion pounds in 1943 to 4.4 billion pounds in 1944.

Where the fisherman makes his biggest profit, however, is in the upward spurt of prices. Most areas of the country do not have ceiling prices on fish, with the result that many housewives are paying more for fish than they used to pay for choice steaks.

Many restaurants — and patrons, too — pay trout prices for catfish. Others pay for a certain size shrimp but receive a smaller size on which the ceiling is lower.

Dumping of fish because of lack of demand, which was common in the Chesapeake bay area as late as 1942 — no longer is practiced. Grocers and chain stores snap up available supplies. One national chain is reported buying three times as much seafood as it did a year ago.

Legless, She Wins License To Fly Her Own Airplane

ADEL, GA. — Mrs. Alvina Babbs, 26, is legless, walks on her hands. But she flies an airplane and, having a private pilot's license, she plans to fly from Georgia to California soon.

Instructors at the airport here say Mrs. Babbs is in no way handicapped as a pilot.

She flies a light monoplane controlled entirely by the hands. On the ground she refuels and services her plane.

She has been legless since she was 13 months old as the result of an automobile accident.

"A physical handicap is more of the mind than of the body," she says.

Prescription Good for Life Followed by WAVE

CHICAGO. — A WAVE's trip to the infirmary for treatment of a cold ended in an unusual prescription. The "doctor" advised a trip to the altar.

Beverly A. Gross, 21, a WAVE yeoman, and Doyle A. Crum, 23, pharmacist's mate, of Salix, Iowa, met last January when Beverly called at the sick bay of the Navy's V-12 unit at Northwestern university.

Yesterday they were married by Judge Oral P. Tuttle of Harrisburg, sitting in marriage court. The bride is stationed with the medical detachment. Crum is a veteran of Bougainville and Guam.

Loss of Furlough Irks Nazi Captive in Germany

ON THE RHINE. — A German prisoner was taken before Capt. Heister Drum of Millville, Pa., to ask a favor.

"What is it?" asked the busy captain.

"You have interrupted my furlough when you arrive," griped the prisoner tearfully. "I still had three days to go. It was my first furlough in six years. Please, can I stay free for three more days—then I come back and be your prisoner?"

"Take him away," said Drum, red with anger.

British Women Toughen Up for War Relief Work

CUMBERLAND, ENGLAND. — A number of British women between the ages of 22 and 41 — peacetime school teachers, stenographers and secretaries — are undergoing a "toughening up" course in England's lake district here to enable them to become official relief workers in liberated parts of Europe. They are sleeping in tents and on the wooden floors of empty barns.

'Moms' Get Blame for War 'Illness' From Doctor

NEW YORK. — "Moms" are largely responsible for the psychoneurotic cases arising from the war, declares Dr. Edward A. Strecker, psychiatric consultant for the army and navy.

"Moms" are doing mothers who keep their children from learning how to meet actual conditions of living, he said in a lecture. Sometimes, he added, "Pop is the Mom."

Army Sending War Dogs Home

Owners Get Trained Pets All Ready to Resume The Prewar Life.

FORT ROBINSON.—When Rover comes prancing home from war and his service star is removed from the kennel, he will be in the best possible condition to lead a dog's life again, says the Chicago Tribune.

The army quartermaster corps is making certain of that at Fort Robinson in western Nebraska. This is its only war dog reception and training center, where thousands of veterans of the K-9 corps are undergoing a "demilitarizing" process to readjust them to civilian existence. All of these are sentry dogs, trained for duty in this country. There have been no releases of dogs qualified for overseas combat duty.

Eight weeks are required to train a sentry dog, two weeks is the average length of time needed to de-train him. The actual period may vary, however, with the individual dog, the type of handler, and the exigencies of the duties to which he has been assigned. Many dogs have become virtual pets and little detrainment is necessary.

Reverse War Program.

The detrainment process reverses the training program: Handlers seek to convince the dog that every human is his friend. They talk to him gently, play with him, and give him friendly pats every time they pass his kennel. Every time he is taken out he is given a lesson in obedience.

Some dogs, like Butch, take time to control. A black and white mongrel of 40 pounds with the heart of a giant, Butch was hard to break of his aggressive attitude.

Long after huge, rough war dogs were judged safe to send home, Butch still defied his trainers. He refused to be crowded by any one, man or dog.

But the trainers stuck to their task. Unlike other dogs, Butch was taken to the training area twice a day. Gentle handling gradually broke Butch's shell. He lost his suspicion but never his dignity.

Some war dogs, like soldiers, never lose their attachment for the army. Duke, a Dalmatian, was re-processed and returned to his owner, Maj. Ralph C. Kerchaval, commanding officer of the Robinson quartermaster depot.

Living only a half mile from the area where he was trained as a war dog, Duke made frequent visits to the dog barracks. Hardly a morning passed without his being on hand to trot ahead of the troops marching to the kennel area, where he always tried to bluff his way through the open gate.

Trained by Owners.

The detrainment was started as the need for sentry dogs lessened. Some were retrained for overseas duty, although the majority were too old for combat operations.

An estimated 20,000 war dogs have been received by the quartermaster corps for processing and more than 10,000 were trained for sentry, scout, and messenger duty. In January, 202 detrainment dogs left Fort Robinson.

Fort Robinson has files filled with letters from appreciative owners after completion of the detrainment program.

Mrs. Herbert C. Allen, Seattle, Wash., wrote that "at the time Herbie (her son) gave his dog to the armed forces, it was a genuine sacrifice. But now he is reaping the harvest of his unselfish act by receiving back a beautiful dog, more wonderful than he dreamed possible. Thank you for the fine job of training and caring for our dog."

Queenie, a German shepherd, owned by Mrs. C. A. Pryor, Montebello, Calif., was "exceedingly happy to be home and doesn't want me out of her sight," Mrs. Pryor wrote.

"It took just an instant for her to recognize each of us and she is so affectionate. She certainly shows wonderful care and splendid training."

'Human Bombs' Hurl Selves At Yanks on Ie Island

IE ISLAND.—Fanatical Japanese tactics which included one-man charges by "human bombs" are making fighting on little Ie more bitter by the hour.

Enemy soldiers with satchels of explosives strapped to them frequently have rushed headlong to our lines, blowing themselves to bits, and counter-attacks have been made by Japanese armed only with rocks and pieces of broken glass.

There even have been instances of Japanese throwing mortar shells with their hands.

It is cave-to-cave, pillbox-to-pillbox warfare for men of the 77th division as Japanese are rooted out.

Bullet Is Removed From Heart of Girl

PHILADELPHIA.—Ruth Summers, 16, was in an improved condition recently after a .32 caliber bullet was removed from a heart muscle in a two-hour operation. Physicians said she had better than an even chance for recovery. She was shot accidentally at the home of a friend while the two were examining a pistol.

He who watches the clock usually remains as one of the hands.

Truax Plans Work For W. T. Band In Fall

This fall West Texas State College will begin a new war service, which will bring a group of qualified W. T. musicians and the Amarillo Public Schools into a co-operative effort to keep band instruction going despite the fact that there are no band directors to be had.

The plan which was worked out by W. T.'s band director, Glenn Truax, and Clyde Rowe, supervisor of instrumental music in the Amarillo schools, will furnish experience and part-time employment for carefully selected college boys and girls who have had study of band instruments and experience in playing in bands. Each of these will go to Amarillo two afternoons a week to teach in one of the elementary schools. They will have the assistance and supervision of regularly employed teachers in handling their problems; they will teach band instruments and direct bands composed of young children.

Mr. Truax announced this week that seven band students have already been chosen for work in Amarillo. They are Gerald Smith of Hereford, who plays clarinet and saxophone; Charles Bell of Hale Center, who plays clarinet and saxophone; Bill Miller of Borger, who plays trombone; Sherrod Reavis of Shamrock who plays cornet; Jean Boyd of White Deer, who plays piano, several band instruments and is a composer; Ellen Posey of Hereford, who plays flute and oboe; Martha Everhart of Borger, who plays cornet and who is assistant band director in Borger this summer.

Mr. Truax expects to have several other student-teachers who will be doing this type of work this fall. He points out that this arrangement will keep band work going in the public schools, and keep boys and girls from being deprived of this type of music training during the war years.

A tourist was enjoying the wonders of California as pointed out by a native.

"What beautiful grapefruit," he said as they passed through a grove of citrus trees.

"Oh, those lemons are a bit small due to a comparatively bad season," explained the Californian.

Presently they reached the Sacramento River.

"Ah," said the tourist, "someone's radiator is leaking."

"Now, Children," said the Sunday-school teacher, "I have told you the story of Jonah and the whale. Will you may tell me what this story teaches?"

"Yes'm," said Willie, the bright-eyed son of the pastor; "it teaches that you can't keep a good man down."

William Brune Is Veteran Center Vocational Adviser

William Brune has been elected Vocational Adviser for the Guidance Center of the Veterans Administration which is located on the campus of West Texas State College. He begins his work immediately, his employment being made necessary by the increase in men applying to the Center for advice.

As Co-ordinator of Trade and Industrial Education in the Amarillo High School, Mr. Brune did a type of work very similar to that which he will be doing in Canyon. He had a chance to watch the results of his guidance in Amarillo, for he did both placement and follow-up.

Mr. Brune's extensive experience has an educational background represented by a B. S. degree from North Texas and a Master's degree from West Texas State College.

Round-the-Clock Air Offensive

Tracing 24 hours of American air offensive against Japan, Okinawa, newly in use as an air base, will soon be the busiest in the world. Australians are campaigning in oil-rich Borneo at Balikpapan and in the Brunei Bay area following clean-up at Tarakan Island. Shaded areas indicate territory still under Jap influence.

Notes From County H. D. Agent

Homemakers who plan to freeze their share of the big peach crop this summer will welcome the news that research scientists have solved the problem of darkening. Peaches darken rapidly after peeling and slicing, and frozen peaches exposed to air during thawing often turn brown. This darkening does not indicate spoilage, but gives the peaches an unattractive color and sometimes develops off-flavors.

Laboratory tests on various anti-darkening agents have been made by home freezing specialists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They find that careful handling during freezing and thawing helps to prevent darkening, but for the best results, they recommend using either citric acid or ascorbic acid (vitamin C) as follows: Immediately after peaches are sliced, dip them for one minute into a solution of citric acid, made by dissolving 1/4 teaspoon citric acid crystals in 1 quart of water. Or, slice directly into syrup into which 1/4 teaspoon ascorbic acid has been added per cup syrup. Citric and ascorbic acids may be bought at most drug stores.

Only firm, well-ripened peaches rate freezing. Sort and wash, then peel. Well-ripened peaches usually peel more easily if skins are loosened by scalding peaches 15 to 30 seconds in boiling water. Cut in sections and use the citric acid dip if desired. (If ascorbic acid is to be used add the ascorbic acid to the syrup.) Pack peaches in chilled syrup of 3 cups sugar and 4 cups water; or, pack in 1 part by weight sugar to 3 or 4 parts by weight peaches. Seal package tightly, label, and freeze as rapidly as possible.

The home economists advise freezing peaches in containers the right size for one family meal, and thawing only as much as will be eaten at one time. Always thaw peaches in the sealed container to keep best flavor and color, and serve promptly while a few ice crystals remain in the center of the slices.

Locker Plants To Be Checked For Meat Supply

An investigation of frozen food locker plants in the Lubbock District will begin July 16, District OPA Enforcement Attorney Sam H. Allred announced today, following receipt of details of the program from the Regional OPA Office Wednesday.

The purpose of the entire meat enforcement program is to "kill the black market and provide better distribution of the supply," and the locker investigation is a part of the intensive meat enforcement program.

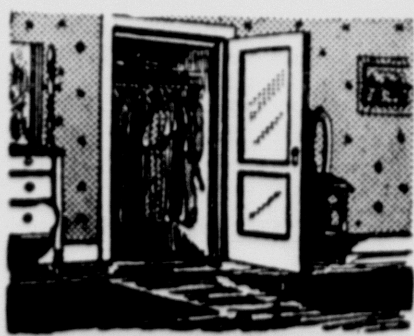

Investigators employed by the Lubbock Office who will be trained for this particular project will inspect meat in the lockers and notify owners of what appear to be excessive supplies to report to the local War Price and Rationing Board and be prepared to surrender red points if unable to establish previous point payment or the fact that they were entitled to the meat on a point-free basis.

Farmers who raise meat for their own consumption will not be required to surrender red points for it, Allred said.

A young business man, a deacon in his local church was going to New York on business and while there was to purchase a new sign to be hung in front of the church. He copied the motto and dimensions, but when he got to New York discovered he had left the paper behind. He wired his wife: "Send motto and dimensions."

An hour later a message came over the wire and the new lady clerk who had just come from lunch and who knew nothing of the previous message read it and fainted. The message said: "Unto Us a Child Is Born. 6 feet long and 2 feet wide."

These days of "price ceilings" are causing some unanticipated complications. A New Jersey housewife returned a purchase to a department store with the protest that it wasn't at all what she had specified. "I ordered a floor mop," she explained "and this mop has 'ceiling' stamped right on the ticket."

Movie at Baptist Church at 8:15 Today

The famous movie produced by National Women's Christian Temperance Union, entitled "That Boy Joe," will be shown at the First Baptist Church in Canyon as a part of a special service Thursday evening, July 19, at 8:15. This is a talking picture with a message for youth and age alike. Of course there is no admission charge.

Pastor Roy L. Johnson will deliver a message by request on "A Diagnosis of the Dance," in which he will explain the history, the basis of appeal, and the inevitable tendencies of the dance. Because of the revival of this practice and the growth of it in connection with schools and colleges, this subject is of vital concern to every parent and every youth, and ought to be studied from the standpoint of facts. Pastor Johnson has made a special study of the dance in several well-known encyclopaedic works and will present his findings at this Thursday special service to which all Canyon and Randall County are invited.
